Tepeyac Christian School chosen to recite the Apostles' Creed!

God overrules!

Costa Rican society has been implementing consciously a pagan program for the country for years. The current president raised the “diversity” flag in all the government offices in his first week in office. And there has been a push for homosexual marriage, radical feminism, and the minimization of Christian influence on society at a government level. The Ministry of Education actively promotes the destruction of marriage and biblical sexuality through the textbooks and policies. I could go on and on.

Well, our high school recently worked up a recital of the Apostles' Creed with music, very nicely done. Our Principal had invited representatives from the Ministry of Education to join us for our Reformation Day activities. They were so impressed with the presentation, that the group was invited to the official end of the year activity of the Ministry of Education! So the Tepeyac Christian school gave public testimony of our faith right in the midst of many who deny the Lord. Praise God for these kinds of opportunities!

Unlikely evangelist!

María Guzmán has been a member of our church for many years, Sunday school teacher, and always a hard worker. In spite of the fact that she has no formal studies beyond high school, her thirst for the Word of God has led her to study the Catechism, various books, and John Calvin's Institutes. When her husband retired, they moved 5 hours away to the north of Costa Rica. But María took her passion for the Lord and the Gospel with her. In spite of the fact that the area they live in is very resistant to the Gospel, she perseveres in giving testimony, inviting her neighbor ladies to study the bible. Her first bible study was on the Lord's prayer. Now she has challenged her friends and neighbors to read through the bible in a year. Sometimes as many as 12 people come to her prayer times and bible study!

In the picture to the right María is loading up on more books to share with her prospective disciples. Please pray for her, and for her community which is called "San Blas". We count it as a "daughter church" of our congregation, Pacto de Gracia.

Reinforcements in the print shop!

Daniel Loría, a young man from our Pacto de Gracia congregation, has asked to work for CLIR in printing. Lester is teaching him the trade, and Daniel has caught on quickly! He is proud of having helped print a TON of books lately. Praise the Lord for reinforcements!
